Yanks step in to save Hut 6

BY ROB GIBSON

rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A DECAYING hut of worldwide historical importance will be saved thanks to a £500,000 donation to Bletchley Park.

Hut 6 epitomises the code-breaking achievements of Britain during World War Two but has fallen into disrepair because the charity which looks after the building is desperately short of funding.

Now a foundation set up in the name of a generous American billionaire has made a bid to save the iconic building.

The Sidney E Frank Foundation has offered Bletchley Park Trust half-a-million pounds, which could double if the Trust's application to the Heritage Lottery Fund is successful.

Bletchley Park Trust Director Simon Greenish said: "It's a considerable amount of money and they want their money to go into Hut 6.

"They are listed buildings and you have to take them apart piece by piece to restore them so it's very expensive.

"If they are lost then it's a loss to history.

"It's very challenging but we're just about getting there."

Sidney Frank became a world-renowned philanthropist after building his own alcohol importing empire in New York.

In October 2005, the year before his death, he commissioned a statue by sculptor Stephen Kettle for Bletchley Park and donated £500,000 for the Science Centre.

Now the Trust needs an estimated £10 million to develop the site and repair its infrastructure.

Weathering the storm? Tarpaulin covers Hut 6 at Bletchley Park

Two of the codebreaking huts have become hole-ridden, including Hut 6, where German Army and Air Force Enigma machine ciphers were cracked.

Mr Greenish revealed that a second major donor will be announced next week and said that the Lottery Heritage Fund is 'very interested' in his bid.

The news emerged following a conference to announce a separate donation from two multinational computer companies to the National Museum of Computing, located at Bletchley Park.

IBM and data protection experts PGP Corporation have donated £50,000 to help save Britain's computing heritage and help it towards its own £7million target.

They now plan to launch a consortium of major US technology companies to help bridge the funding gap at the home of the Colussus.

But Mr Greenish was keen to distinguish the museum donation from the on-going campaign to repair Mansion House and the codebreaking huts.

Addressing staff from IBM and PGP, he said: "Although Bletchley Park and the National Computer Museum are separate entities we will continue to work together.

"We've got people here who want to invest in computers and that's great because it's pulling us all in the same direction.

"It is all interlinked because we will see the benefits and our visitors will get a better deal."

Gate receipts at Bletchley Park hit 3,500 on August bank holiday weekend and the National Computer Museum is hoping to attract further donations with the launch of a special t-shirt and website.

Visit the museum website at www.pgp.com/stationx or make a donation to Bletchley Park at www.bletchleypark.org.uk

Police guard the boat at Bragenham Side where two bodies were found on Sunday morning

Man in court over canal boat deaths

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

TWO people who were found dead on a canal boat have been named by police.

Paramedics discovered 53-year-old Paul Wilkins and 39-year-old Kay Morton dead on the narrow-boat, which was moored in Bragenham Side, Stoke Hammond, on Sunday morning.

Emergency services were called to the scene at 12.35am following a report that a man and woman had been seriously injured on a boat along the Grand Union Canal.

Police cordoned off a section of the canal surrounding the boat and detectives immediately launched a murder investigation, arresting a man.

William Cranston, 43, from Stoke Hammond, appeared at Aylesbury Magistrates' Court yesterday charged with murder.

He was remanded in custody until next week, when he will appear at Reading Crown Court.

A post mortem was carried out on Monday to establish the cause of the deaths.

Jobs at risk in council's building design centre

MILTON Keynes Council has announced that up to 40 jobs at its building design arm Architecture MK are at risk after the business failed to win new contracts.

Staff based at offices in Avebury Boulevard were told last week that their jobs were at risk following a business review.

Milton Keynes Council had started negotiating the transfer of the service to its private business partner Mouchel, but it became clear losses were higher than expected and a further internal review concluded the process should be brought to an end.

The council expressed its regret to Mouchel that it was unable to continue negotiations. Mouchel is continuing to help the council with ideas for alternative plans.

Earlier in the year Architecture MK had been unsuccessful in bidding for competitive tenders to build new schools in Milton Keynes and the department was facing a projected loss of more than £500,000 for 2008/2009.

The position was made worse by the threat of recession making the building design market much more competitive.

Over the next month staff will be asked for their views to see if anything further can be done, but if this proves unsuccessful, then the council will be putting in place a number of options to help workers find new work as quickly as possible.

A council spokesman said: "If a solution cannot be found, the council will do everything it can to help and support staff at Architecture MK to find work as soon as possible.

"However the council decided a deal viable for both parties was not possible to achieve after carrying out a business assessment.

"It became clear that the council could not justify keeping open a department that was potentially going to lose taxpayer's a considerable sum of money this and in the next financial year."

Architecture MK was set up in 1997 to provide professional building surveying, project management and property maintenance services to council departments, schools and properties.

Woeful Woodhill

Report blasts top security prison's treatment of mental health patients and poor facilities for disabled inmates

> Prisons are not designed to be holiday camps, so we are not looking to make this a luxurious or comfortable environment
> – Woodhill Prison governor Luke Sergeant

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

'DEPLORABLE' practices and 'woeful inadequecies' in Woodhill Prison have been catalogued in a new report.

Facilities for disabled prisoners, treatment of some mental health patients, and radicalisation of prisoners in the Milton Keynes-based high security establishment are causes for concern in the Independent Monitoring Board's (IMB) annual review.

Many of the problems stem from the prison overcrowding, which it says is 'now at a critical level' of 819 - increasing from 807 in March.

This overcrowding has led to the 'deplorable' practice of placing prisoners in the Segregation Unit, as happened in January and February.

The IMB also 'questions the appropriateness' of the current practice of sex offenders sharing cells with other category vulnerable prisoners, again related to increasing prison population.

Governor Luke Sergeant said that segregation units will not be used in this way again, but that vulnerable prisoners will continue to include sex offenders and non-sex offenders.

The report adds: "The population has risen once again. The Board are concerned that staffing levels cannot be maintained to ensure the delivery of appropriate regimes and support. The infrastricture will not allow for additional capacity."

Although the IMB acknowledges improvements since its last report - which include greater links with the community and improvements in activities, it notes the new pressure of being forced to make £300,000 efficiency savings out of its annual £30 million budget.

Already the kitchens are working beyond capacity and are 'in a very poor physical condition'.

It states the 'facilities for disabled prisoners are lacking,' so £46,000 has been allocated to develop them.

A bugbear is the 'woefully inadequate mental health provision' for the many men who do not meet the criteria to be helped by the Mental Health Inreach Team'.

And the issue of radicalisation 'is a major concern', as is the challenge posed by Muslim prisoners on long sentences mixing with black prisoner gangs.

Though the number of recorded racial indidents has risen by a third, from 210 last year to 320 this year, Mr Sergeant attributes this to improved awareness.

He said: "There is much good work going on in Woodhill which is an extremely challenging and complex prison to run.

"The role of the IMB is to watch what we do with a critical eye. It is an important role in helping us to focus on the issues which continue to need our attention and I am grateful to them for their work which is all carried out voluntarily.

"They have highlighted some issues for Woodhill, some of which (overcrowding for example) are outside of my control, but many of which we can focus on to improve this prison still further.

"Prisons are not designed to be holiday camps, so we are not looking to make this a luxurious or comfortable environment – but I believe it should be decent. I believe that if we do not treat prisoners decently in here they will leave more likely to resent society and thereby present more of a risk to the public."

Shannon-Leigh Bloomfield who died when her pony Poppy, above, fell on top of her

Candlelit ceremony to mark birthday of Olympic hopeful

FAMILY and friends of a 12-year-old Olympic hopeful who died after falling from her pony held an emotional candlelit ceremony to mark her birthday at the weekend.

Shannon-Leigh Bloomfield, from Newbury Court, Bletchley, died on January 27 as she competed in a novice indoor cross-country competition at Milton Keynes Eventing Centre in Malt Hill Farm, Hanslope.

Poppy the pony fell on top of Shannon at the final jump and she died from multiple injuries, including fractures to her skull and damage to her lungs.

A member of the Whaddon Chase Pony Club, Shannon had been tipped to compete in the 2012 London Olympics.

She would have been 13 on Sunday, September 7.

Shannon's family and friends lit candles by her gravestone at the cemetry in Great Brickhill on Sunday evening. Later, they attended a memorial party at Stoke Hammond Cricket Club.

In a tribute to Shannon, her mother, Wendy, said: "We want to celebrate the special life of my daughter. She touched everybody's hearts."

Shannon was a pupil at Cottesloe School in Wing.

Parking free-for-all

SIR - My experience of Bletchley parking (mainly on weekends when I visit my parents) leads me to believe that David Mills was a tadge unlucky.

Saturday mornings Queensway looks more like a scene from Mad Max than a regulated parking area.

Complete disregard for both parking regulations and the rule of the road seems to be the order of the day.

The one way signs in Bedford Street and Oxford Street seem to be decorative rather than a restriction.

But more than this, the scarcity of parking attendants, PCSO and police officers, or if they are in the area, the fact that they do not apply the rules to the visiting shoppers, makes me wonder if there is a deliberate policy of not policing Queensway at this time.

MP out of touch

SIR – The knee-jerk attack by the local Conservative MP on the Government's stamp duty holiday on houses costing less than £175,000 just shows how out of touch with ordinary people Mr Lancaster is.

"How many houses are there on the market for less than £175,000?" he asked.

Well quite a lot as he would have known if he bothered to read last week's property pages.

For less than £175,000 you can buy a two bed semi in Wavendon Gate, three-bed house in Wolverton, or Bletchley or Great Linford, two bed house in Stony, etc etc.

How revealing that Mr Lancaster thinks that helping these house buyers is 'nothing'.

Ricky's shrine fine

SIR – I live near to Ricky's shrine and believe it to be very neat and tidy.

As I pass it every day, I always think of Ricky and his family.

Although I don't know them, I feel for them as I lost my own son at the age of 25 when he was hit by a car in 1991.

We have not put up a shrine ourselves, but would support Ricky's family in this respect.

It is very small and unobtrusive, set amongst the trees and does no-one any harm.

If this makes the family help to cope with their tragedy, then please, please leave the shrine alone.

And remember, "there but for the grace of God etc....." .

God bless this family.

Stop talking down estate and start to support youngsters who live there

SIR – I have never been able to understand why the so-called league tables are used in Milton Keynes, it only provides a very distorted rating of the estate compared to others.

The first fact you quote is the 4th WORST Estate for difficulties, what is that supposed to mean, surely not an ageing population, many with disabilities?

If you look at many other outer London estates that were built after the last war they too went through a period where they had an ageing population with all the associated problems, so yes Coffee Hall does have an ageing population with many older and disabled people moving on to the estate, in fact I understand that at one time you had to be over 55 to get social housing, especially the bungalows.

You only have to walk down any street to see many of the houses and bungalows have been upgraded as younger people buy the Coffee Hall properties.

The local councillor managed to get in all the buzz words, deprived, poor, disabled, lack of education and increased crime levels, demographics, dumping ground for the city's problems, etc, etc.

Too poor to own cars, surely that is because there is a higher number of elderly and disabled tenants on the estate.

Poor education! I'm not surprised the area has had to put up with one of the worst schools in the UK until now, when the council has decided to give up and let the responsibility transfer to an outside educational charity.

It is no good the council telling everyone that the school has been getting better year on year, the truth is it's not and it hasn't improved for the last five years.

You have only had to attend the new entrant meetings at the school to understand that the school has a 'limited vision of what level of education the pupils can achieve'.

I'm not sure what the councillor means by 'dumping ground and city wide problems'. If he means the Islamic centre that has been proposed then he is absolutely right, the land reserved is too small for the numbers they are talking about and there is certainly limited parking, so I hope he works to oppose it,but I can't be sure – it may mean the unemployed, old or disabled.

Ever since Labour lost power it has suddenly found the answers to life's problems, it is only a shame that when it was the party in power it didn't do anything to help the estate or provide the local children with the educational opportunities they deserved when it had the opportunity.

I would ask that you stop talking down the estate and start to support the young people who live there to get a good education, have a pride and be confidant in their own abilities.

This is after all 2008 not 1908. In this day and age every child has the opportunity to make the best of their abilities what ever that may be.

No point in estates list if nothing ever changes

Eamonn Bobey

SIR – I am writing in response to the recent announcement of the city's top 20 so called 'worst estates'.

It should come as no surprise the ranking on the list has not changed for Netherfield as it has moved from first to second on a number of occasions over the years.

There is no point in arguing with the facts, what we should be asking is what is the purpose of compiling this list if nothing changes for the estates highlighted as in need?

That being said the people of Netherfield do not need a list to tell them of the problems on our estate.

We have identified the issues ourselves and, as residents, are trying to do something about them.

We will be waiting a long time for Milton Keynes Council and the Government to do something, we have all grown tired of empty promises.

Maybe the council wishes our estate to continue in decline in order to get people to move out and then redevelop these areas. Similar to what has happened in an area of Stacey Bushes.

What odds on the ranking for Netherfield next year to stay around the same?

Eamonn Bobey
Chairman, Netherfield Residents' Association, The Hide

Bradville fun

SIR – May I, through your pages, simply take the opportunity to congratulate Cllr Barbara Wright and all those involved in organising the 'Bradville fun day' that I had the pleasure of attending last Saturday?

It really was a shining example of a community coming together and, despite the best efforts of the appalling weather, an excellent day out was enjoyed by all thanks to the tremendous efforts of Barbara and her band of volunteers, roll on next year!

Mark Lancaster MP

Crash help thanks

SIR – On the morning of Friday, September 5, I was involved in a head-on collision near Woburn Golf Course.

I had help from people whom I did not thank and whose names I did not catch.

I would like to take time here to thank them.

Firstly, the person who was able to force open my car allowing me to escape and get out.

Secondly, the owner of the van who let me sit in it while we awaited assistance from the emergency services.

Thirdly, the individual who offered me a blanket – it was a great help.

I would also like to thank the fire crew and paramedics who attended at the scene; as well as show gratitude to the police.

Also, thanks to the staff at Milton Keynes Hospital, I am now recovering.

Spectators were as wet as competitors at the rain soaked Jet Ski National Finals.
The finals weekend took place at Willen Lake and fans braved the weather to get involved in the action.
Despite the dreadful conditions the mood was not dampened as fans watched the freestyle displays and races that saw the competitors reach in excess of 80mph.

"I know it is stupid but for my safety I took a knife with me

– Keith Orchard: Accused of murdering mechanic Kevin Joyce

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

THE man accused of murdering mechanic Kevin Joyce told police that he had been stupid to take a knife to a confrontation, a jury has heard.

As the trial into the murder of the 27-year-old mechanic continued at Luton Crown Court yesterday the prosecution read a transcript of an interview between Keith Orchard and detectives.

Mr Orchard told them: "I did not want a fight but I thought if it went that way I was going to get badly hammered.

"I was scared.

"I know it is stupid but for my safety I took a knife with me.

"It was not like I went there with the intention of pulling it."

Mr Orchard, 29, from Walgrave Drive, Bradwell, and James O'Gorman, 41, of Polruan Place, Fishermead, both plead not guilty to murdering Mr Joyce on September 8 last year.

Mr Joyce, from Margam Crescent, Monkston, died following the alleged attack outside Kipling Motorist Centre in Denbigh Industrial Estate.

The prosecution allege that he was stabbed by Mr Orchard with a lock knife, during a confrontation over Mr Orchard's turbulent relationship with Mr Joyce's sister, Katy Gunn.

The court heard that Orchard told police: "He (Mr Joyce) was a nutter and pulled a hammer on me. He is coming towards me quickly and I just pulled the knife.

"I pushed it out in front of me and I thought I caught his hand or arm.

"He went 'argh' and ran off."

He said that he took Mr O'Gorman with him because he was 'very smart with his words' and could cool things down quickly.

The jury also heard transcripts of interviews between Mr O'Gorman and police in which he claimed he had gone along as a mediator.

Mr O'Gorman also pleads not guilty to assisting an offender and affray.

He told police: "The two of them were bickering, like two grannies yapping away. I feel bad about it but I lost interest.

"I was looking at my phones... then I saw Kevin run back into the garage and Keith run back to the car.

"I did not think anything had happened – honest to God."

The trial continues.

Dance 4 Me for Madonna

MADONNA is the latest celebrity to benefit from the ingenuity of a Milton Keynes based company.

Since Dance 4 Me, based in Mount Farm, Bletchley, was given a £150,000 investment by fearsome millionaires Duncan Bannatyne and James Caan on the BBC programme Dragons' Den, their business has soared.

On Monday night's edition of the programme, the entertainment company, which was founded by Newport Pagnell-born Julia Charles, was named as one of the success stories.

And tomorrow night at Wembley as part of Madonna's tour, the company will supply the superstar's thousand guests with Vogue-dancing models and doves in cages.

They have also been commissioned by the Team GB sailing team's gold medallists to hold a gold-themed party after they phoned from Beijing to book the unique company - who they had spotted on Dragons' Den.

Ms Charles, who meets with James Caan in London twice a week to work on the business, said the success would not have come so fast without the show.

"I think we would've got in two or three years but we would not have got it this fast," she said.

"I was ready to take the business on. My ideas were so unique there was only so much we could do without extra doors being opened."

Pay phone protest

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE council has supported pensioners' protests against the removal of more than 30 phone boxes.

Councillors have objected to the loss of all but three of the 'disused' phone boxes at risk across Milton Keynes and the surrounding villages.

MK NEWS reported last week that Milton Keynes Pensioners' Association is angry at the plans.

A spokesman argued that older people still need pay phones in emergencies as many do not own mobile phones.

The proposals, by BT, were discussed at the council's development control committee last Thursday.

The phone company has notified Milton Keynes Council as it must consult with the local authority before removing a public phone box which is more than 400m from the nearest pay phone that would remain.

The council has given the go-ahead for the removal of phone boxes in Tathall End, Hanslope and Brickhill Street, Willen Lake, but has objected to 30 others.

Walnut Tree councillor Jaime Tamagnini hopes to save three pay phones in his ward.

He argued that the phone boxes are in the top 10 per cent for usage in Milton Keynes.

"By removing these three phone boxes people would have to make 6,000 trips in total outside the area to find a phone box," he said.

"A lot of people in this day and age are not using their mobile phones because a 20 minute call in a phone box is only 40p, much cheaper.

"I think it's barmy to remove them, they are used for emergencies."

A spokesman for BT said: "Over the years as usage has declined BT has been constantly reviewing and where necessary rationalising its public payphone estate in order to meet demand.

"This is nothing new, and we will continue to do so."

The other two consultations feed from the overarching Transport Consultation and ask residents for their views on changes to CMK car parking and improving public transport.

Cllr Douglas McCall, cabinet member for transport strategy and policy said "The council has been consulting key stakeholders for some months on our transport strategies, so this is the final stage of the consultation before the cabinet approves the plans at the end of the year"

Charity bike ride

THE city's YMCA is calling for you to 'pick yourself off the ground' and cycle for charity.

The charity is holding a charity bike ride starting at Willen Lake on Sunday.

Participants can raise money for any local charity or community group.

Tony Round, fundraising manager of the Milton Keynes YMCA said: "With help and support from MK Council and The Parks Trust, as well as local sponsors such as Trek Bikes, we have organised this open event to enable supporters of local charities and groups to get on their bikes and raise much needed funds for the good cause of their choice."

The event will use Heritage Cycle Trails of between 12-15 miles each and feature a junior circuit around Willen Lake for riders under 10.

The first rides will set off from 10am and keen riders can take part in a warm up with LA Fitness at 9.30am. The last start for the Heritage Trails is 2pm.

Call Tony Round on 01908-295600 or email info@mkymca.com for more information or an entry form.

Free swimming welcomed

THE council has welcomed free swimming for pensioners if it does not hit city taxpayers' pockets.

Milton Keynes Council's cabinet has agreed to participate in the Government's new scheme.

Culture secretary Andy Burnham announced in June that a new £140 million fund has been set up to boost participation in swimming.

Local authorities in England are to get £80m to scrap over-60s' charges by April next year and, a further £60m for refurbishing and maintaining pools.

Drink led to barge dweller drowning

Patrick Davidson on holiday

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

ALCOHOL was a factor in the death of a former railway controller who drowned beside his canal boat, an inquest heard.

Patrick 'Paddy' Davidson, 52, was found on May 20 floating in the Grand Union Canal near his boat in Fenny Stratford where he had lived for two years.

Dublin-born Mr Davidson, who had taken early retirement after being made redundant, had spent around 12 hours in Bletchley's Railway Club on May 19 – where he was 'well-liked' and went most days.

Although he had almost drunk enough alcohol to poison him, it was falling in the canal as he made his way back to his boat that killed him.

His body was discovered floating face down by a man cycling to work on the towpath at 7am, before the underwater search team was called from Reading to retrieve the body.

Toxicology reports showed the alcohol concentration was 391 milligrams per 100 millilitres of blood – when 400 can be fatal.

Consultant pathologist Dr Veejay Desai said: "Drowning was the cause of death but alcohol prevented him from saving himself."

Coroner Rodney Corner told Mr Davidson's family: "Alcohol would've overtaken his ability to save himself. It was very close to being a fatal level itself – he was very close to dying from drinking too much. It wasn't but it was getting close to it. 391 is a lot. Bear in mind that the limit for driving is 80."

Taxi driver George Baird was the last person to see Mr Davidson alive.

He said: "When he got out he pulled the door shut. The momentum of the door pulled him off his feet and I went round and said 'are you ok, Paddy?'

"He said, 'I'm okay, I know I could do it with my eyes closed.'

"He'd had a lot of drink but I'd seen him have a lot more than that before. He was unsteady but not exceptionally drunk."

Coroner Corner added:"Over-ingestion of alcohol had a bearing on his ability to get out of the canal.

"It was a contributory factor but not the cause of death. Quite why he made such a colossal mistake we will never know."

Mr Davidson had spent more than 20 years working for British Rail and he had separated from his wife Barbara and bought his boat two years previously, though his permanent address remained Frensham Drive, Bletchley.

A family spokesman told MK NEWS: "Paddy was a loving and caring husband, father and grandfather. His death was a terrible accident and marks the loss of a good man, loved by his family and friends. He will be greatly missed."

J14 works delayed again

THEY were meant to be finished in March, then the deadline was pushed back to the end of August.

But the council has again delayed the completion of the junction 14 roadworks to the end of this month – and bad weather has been blamed again.

Councillors recently received an e-mail from an officer saying that 'there have been a number of unforeseen circumstances which have led to this being delayed, the main reason being unusually high and persistent levels of rain during August which has meant delays to excavation, concreting and resurfacing operations'.

It adds: 'All effort is being directed at getting all traffic lanes operational as quickly as possible in September, subject to weather within the next two weeks, and any remaining tidying up by the end of September 2008'.

But ward councillor Catriona Morris, said: "We should have never tried to do it so quickly – not tried to be so clever – as it has upset local residents and is upsetting people who have come to Milton Keynes for the first time, seen the chaos, and never come back again.

"Let's hope all this pain has been worth it."

A council spokesman said: "We were always working to accelerated timescales here – this is a five-year project which we fitted into less than a quarter of that time.

"Of course there have been some delays to the project, not helped by the very wet weather in recent months, but once the work is completed it will significantly improve journey times for motorists going in and out of MK."

Assault victim still critical on life support machine

A 20-YEAR-OLD man has been remanded in custody following an alleged assault which left the victim in a coma.

Michael John Newson, of North Tenth Street, Central Milton Keynes, appeared at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Friday, via a video link from Woodhill Prison.

He has been charged with one count of inflicting grievous bodily harm on 55-year-old Peter Francis Collins, from Milton Keynes. The attack allegedly took place at Lloyds Court, in the city centre, on Wednesday, July 30.

Mr Collins remains in a critical condition on a life support machine at Milton Keynes Hospital.

The Crown Prosecution Service gave a brief description of the alleged events before the magistrates committed the case to Huntingdon Crown Court.

Mr Newson, who was represented by David Gough, was remanded in custody and will enter his plea in October.

Home values hit by higher rail pylons

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

RESIDENTS in Bletchley are fuming at 30ft 'monstrosities' erected on the railway behind their homes.

They claim new pylons erected by Network Rail have axed the value of their properties.

Collin Green, from Archers Wells, said the old pylons could not be seen from his garden but they have been replaced with huge 'monstrosities'.

The electricity cables carried by the structures have also been brought closer to his home.

"The neighbours are all up in arms," he said.

"We appreciate the work needs to be done, but I have just spent thousands on our garden for my wife and then we are stuck with this."

He claims residents were only warned that routine maintenance work was to be carried out and not told that the pylons would be erected.

"They used to send courtesy letters before they did work," he added.

Several people have written to Network Rail to complain and call for compensation for the value lost in their properties.

They have also enlisted the help of local MP, Dr Phyllis Starkey.

Mr Green's neighbour, Brian McCartney, wants the company to replace trees that were cut down behind his home to hide the view of the structures.

After living in the road for 40 years he said the effect of the pylons is 'terrible'.

"We do not understand why they need to be so high," he said.

"It has totally upset us."

"It has devalued our properties - I wouldn't buy this house now."

Dr Starkey said Network Rail should not have carried out the work without consulting with local people and she has written to the company asking them to explain their actions.

View from the garden: The new pylons erected by Network Rail

She is also calling for some kind of screening to be put up to hide the eye-sore.

A spokesman for Network Rail said the company is aware of the issue and intend to hold a discussion with residents to resolve the matter.

He said the work was essential to the safe and efficient running of the railway.

He added that, as the line speed is increasing, the pylons need to be higher to allow train drivers to see further down the line.

Council is facing up to customer criticism

SMILE if you think the council is doing a good job.

Milton Keynes Council has launched a new customer satisfaction system in a bid to improve services.

GovMetric uses a smiling, neutral and sad face symbols to allow customers to give an instant feedback on how well the council has performed.

The council is one of the first local authorities to use this method that allows visitors to register their impressions of the service they have received at council offices and on its website.

Chief executive Kate Page said: "This is the first time the council has been able to obtain a meaningful measure of customer satisfaction in real time. We want to get it right the first time because this is what we are all working towards."

Council chief Kate Page: Measuring customer satisfaction with the help of smiling, neutral and sad face symbols

The new system, which allows a person to remain anonymous, will not replace any other forms of feedback such as the formal complaints process.

Isobel McCall, leader of Milton Keynes Council, said: "This is all about how, as a council, we can improve services to the people we serve. It takes just a few seconds for our customers to tell us how well or badly we are doing using happy, neutral and sad face symbols.

"It means we now have the opportunity to be much more responsive to our customers' needs so that we can keep improving and give the people of Milton Keynes the best possible service."

GovMetric provides the councils with graphs and analysis of the information showing customer satisfaction with particular services such as benefits, housing or planning as well as general services.

Biker charged over pillion passenger injuries

A 28-YEAR-OLD motorcyclist has been charged with dangerous driving after a woman was found lying by a road, severely injured.

David Keith Redford, from Farthing Grove, Netherfield, appeared at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Friday via video link.

He has been charged with six counts including driving dangerously, failing to stop at the scene of an accident, and driving a Honda 400cc motorbike without the necessary insurance or licence.

The charges relate to an incident on Simpson Road, Walton Park, at 5.15pm on August 23.

Sally Weeks, 34, was a pillion passenger on a yellow Honda motorbike when it collided with a parked BMW. She was found with life-threatening head injuries and taken to hospital.

Miss Weeks, a mother-of-two from The Hyde, Netherfield, was transferred to the JR2 Hospital, where she remains in a critical condition.

Mr Redford has also been charged with causing damage to his prison cell wall and assaulting a police officer. He was remanded in custody.

BLEW blow it with wind farm advert

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A MAGAZINE advert against plans to build a wind farm in Emberton was 'misleading'.

This is according to the Advertising Standards Agency (ASA), which has rapped campaign group Bucks Lacks Enough Wind (BLEW) for the advert against plans to erect a seven turbine wind farm on Petsoe Manor Farm, near Olney.

It was placed in the Phonebox magazine, a local publication that covers Olney, last autumn.

Wind farm company Your Energy complained to the ASA which launched an investigation.

The ASA upheld the energy company's view that the advert was misleading in a number of claims about the farm and wind farms in general and declared that it must not be used again.

Peter Geary, member of BLEW and councillor for the Olney ward, said: "There were eight points of complaint by Your Energy which means they acknowledged that many of our points were correct.

"The ASA are commonly used in wind farm cases with both sides making claims and defending them on a regular basis."

In January Milton Keynes Council granted planning permission for the turbines up to 125 metres high.

And, as reported in MK News in July, the wind farm won the backing of London's High Court despite BLEW's claims the area does not have enough wind to justify the harm the windmills will do to the landscape.

Cllr Geary added: "At BLEW we stand by our beliefs that this wind farm would be bad for the area, we have had some success at the Court of Appeal and intend to continue the fight to the House of Lords. The work we have recently commissioned shows the wind data that Your Energy is relying on for the energy forecasts for this project has shown a number of anomalies. The case goes on and I think will run for some time."

Richard Mardon, Your Energy's managing director, said: "We always take great care to give the community accurate information.

"To prevent wild and unsubstantiated claims gaining credibility, we referred this leaflet to the independent Advertising Standards Authority.

"The ASA ruled that in seven instances out of seven, the leaflet breached their code on truthfulness.

"Detailed information on our project is available at www.miltonkeyneswindfarm.com"

Cracker from Craig in front of royalty

ROYALTY enjoyed a crowd-raising performance from a young concert pianist in Milton Keynes at the weekend.

His Royal Highness the Duke of Kent was the special guest of the High Sheriff of Buckinghamshire, Peter Thorogood for his concert at Milton Keynes Theatre on Sunday.

The High Sheriff's Concert, which marked the opening of the Milton Keynes City Orchestra season, attracted an audience of more than 1,000 people.

It featured the debut performance of Milton Keynes' own talented 19-year-old pianist Craig Greene, from Bradwell.

Craig, originally a student of the Stantonbury Music Project, has recently been awarded an academic and instrumental scholarship to Christ Church, Oxford.

He performed the Beethoven Piano Concerto No 3, Op37 in C minor, under the baton of principle conductor Sian Edwards and together with the professional musicians of the orchestra, to rapturous applause and three curtain calls.

The Milton Keynes City Orchestra opened the concert with the popular Verdi Overture from the Opera Nabucco and finished with a triumphant performance of Tchaikovsky's Symphony No 5, Op64 in E Minor.

The concert was supported by Baker Tilly's Private Client team, Milton Keynes Partnership and BP Collins.

Bridge-leap teacher in 'downward spiral'

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE

jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

A CRICKET-LOVING teacher who ran out of money and drank excessively jumped off a bridge, an inquest heard.

Brian Wright, 56, from Cambridge Street, Wolverton, broke his spine after jumping from the H2 Miller's Way bridge onto the A5 carriageway at around 8pm on May 23.

Coroner Rodney Corner described the life of the boarding school-educated teacher, who worked at Wicken Park School in Northamptonshire, as a 'downward spiral'.

He had resigned many years ago from his teaching post and was made redundant from his job as a car parts supervisor in Kiln Farm two years ago.

While unemployed and suffering from several illnesses he was known to drink up to ten pints of lager a day. He put all his efforts into coaching the young players at Wolverton Town Cricket Club and was living off his dwindling savings.

Brian Wright's life was 'a very unattractive prospect and future was very bleak and dismal' according to coroner Rodney Corner

A note written shortly before he died was read out at yesterday's inquest.

It read: "Dear All. Sorry about the mess. This has come about for a variety of reasons, chiefly no money left, body is failing, failing liver, feet have a chronic infection, and severe psoriasis."

Though he told his doctor he drank 70-100 units each week – about 35 pints – it was believed to be double or treble that.

On the day of his death Mr Wright had cycled to Wolverton Working Men's Club and read the Daily Telegraph – as he did every day.

His friend David Goodsell from St George's Way, Wolverton, said he was particularly quiet.

"He was a quiet person to talk to unless he was talking about cricket. He loved cricket. I think that was pretty much his life. The main thing he went on about was coaching cricket."

Later that day, he had visited the cricket club – unusual behaviour as he would not typically go on a Friday – returning a box of cricket balls with a note wishing the players a good season.

That evening a witness saw him leaning against the barriers of the H2 overbridge with his bike, looking at the traffic below. When he looked again he saw the bike but the man was gone.

Coroner Corner was satisfied Mr Wright intended to end his life.

"Really his life was a very unattractive prospect and future was very bleak and dismal," he said.

"His friends have said he was prone to the downs. But with Brian Wright he wasn't prepared to give it any longer I'm afraid."

Rob Ford, vice chairman of Wolverton Town Cricket Club, said: "Brian's legacy to our club was never better demonstrated by the number of colts he trained and managed who attended his funeral. Wolverton Town Cricket Club has a lot to thank Brian for."

PCT comes clean on hand wash prioritities

THE city's health care provider has signed up to a campaign for clean hands.

Milton Keynes Primary Care Trust is taking part in the National Patient Safety Agency's cleanyourhands campaign, which launched on Monday.

The NHS-funded campaign aims to help reduce healthcare associated infections through improving hand hygiene, prompting healthcare staff to clean their hands at the critical moments immediately before and after every patient contact.

It is in its third year in NHS acute hospitals and has now been extended to include other NHS trusts.

In Milton Keynes it covers community healthcare provision such as district nurses, health visitors, podiatrists, speech and language therapists and mental health workers. GP surgeries are likely to follow.

Each team has posed for a photo which will be added to a poster with the message 'I do – so can you'.

The posters will be displayed in each team's service area encouraging patients to challenge their clinicians about hand cleanliness.

Stony to star in TV programme

Good Life's actress plays motoring pioneer

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

ACTRESS Penelope Keith was on location in Stony Stratford last week.

BBC4 chose Horsefair Green to film a scene from a new television programme named The Fast Woman.

The crew spent an hour filming in the village on Tuesday, September 2.

The programme will be part of a motoring season in 2009 and features pioneering Edwardian motor racer Dorothy Levitt, played by Ms Keith.

Between 1903 and 1910 Dorothy took part in various speed trials, motor races and hill climbs and at one point, was the fastest lady in the world.

In 1909 she released a book called The Woman and the Car, a chatty little handbook which gave women various tips on motoring.

Penelope Keith filming The Fast Woman in Stony Stratford

In 1905 she made a journey from London to Liverpool and back over the course of two days in a single cylinder De Dion Bouton car, which at the time was an epic achievement especially considering she made the trip without a mechanic.

It was well documented in newspapers at the time that Stony Stratford was a key location on Dorothy's journey.

The film crew also recorded images of the High Street, The Cock, The Bull and Market Square.

Fan made to pay for throwing coin

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

A FOOTBALL fan who threw a coin during an MK Dons match has been fined.

Glen Moore, 22, of Hood Street, Northampton, was arrested during MK Dons' derby against Northampton Town.

He appeared at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court last week and, as part of the Football Offences Act 1991, was charged with throwing an object onto the pitch.

He was also charged with consuming alcohol in view of the pitch under the Sporting Events Control of Alcohol Act 1985.

Moore threw the coin in the direction of assistant referee John Hopkins shortly after Aaron Wilbraham scored the winning goal at stadiummk.

It was collected by referee Gavin Ward and caused a lengthy delay to the game.

Referee Gavin Ward hands over the coin thrown by Cobblers fan Glen Moore, to fourth official Paul Barnes

Moore, who pleaded guilty to both charges, was ordered to pay a fine of £440 and made to pay £75 in costs.

PC Jimmy O'Brien, Football Liaison Officer, said: "Milton Keynes Dons FC and Thames Valley Police will not tolerate this type of behaviour and anyone who chooses to act in this way will be dealt with robustly."

Beanhill beats its 'worst estate' tag

BEANHILL defied its 'worst estate' tag at the weekend with a fun day celebrating the area.

The event marked the birthday of Tin Man – a community sculpture based on the Wizard of Oz character installed in 1978.

It came a week after Beanhill was yet again crowned the worst estate by the council in its list of estates with difficulties, based on statistics of teenage pregnancies, crime rates, benefits and education results.

The day included a Beanhill's Got Talent competition.

Organiser Sue Smith, of the Beanhill Action Group, said: "Considering the dodgy start with the weather, everybody said what a fabulous day it was.

"If this does not prove that Beanhill is not the worst estate then I don't know what does."

Get to paint a dinosaur and win a trip to the Natural History Museum

CHILDREN are to help give a dinosaur a pre-historic paint job.

Youngsters are being asked to put their design skills to the test and help give the Peartree Bridge Triceratops a new lease of life.

Woughton Parish Council has teamed up with city arts charity Inter-Action MK and the Milton Keynes Council of Voluntary Organisations (MKCVO) to redesign the work of art's paint job.

The concrete dinosaur was sculpted in 1979 by the late artist Bill Billings MBE, who died aged 69 after suffering a heart attack on Boxing Day.

When building the dinosaur Bill slept in the belly of it to stop any unwanted attention from curious youngsters during its construction.

Bill started making play sculptures for children at Netherfield in 1974 and in 2000 he received an MBE for his work as an inspiring artist working with communities.

Entries will be short listed and the lucky finalists' designs will be displayed in a community exhibition at Inter-Action MK on Saturday, September 27 where the community will vote for the winner.

The exhibition and voting will be open from 11am until 5pm.

The winning designer will be invited to join the artists on the day they paint the dinosaur and will win a family rail ticket to London to visit the Natural History Museum.

■ For more information call 01908 678514.

Leukaemia survivor to walk with 'Beefy'

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A CHILDHOOD cancer survivor from Springfield is to walk with a cricketing legend.

Chris Hawes, from Walbrook Avenue, will join Sir Ian Botham, known as 'Beefy', in Windsor Great Park on Saturday, October 11 on a walk to raise money for Leukaemia Research.

Chris, now 25, was three years old when he was diagnosed with leukaemia in October 1985.

During his treatment, he met other leukaemia patients who lost their battle with the disease.

He said: "Thanks to advances in cancer research and treatment, I returned to full health and live a normal busy life.

"I know first hand that leukaemia is a horrible disease and I'm walking with Beefy to beat childhood blood cancer."

'Beefy's Great British Walk - Against Childhood Leukaemia' is taking place in nine UK cities in October and for the first time members of the public will be able to join Sir Ian on part of his walk each day.

Chris Hawes, left, and as a child undergoing treatment, right

Sir Ian, president of Leukaemia Research, said: "In 1985, when I first started walking to raise funds for Leukaemia Research, the survival rate for children with leukaemia was 20 per cent - now the survival rate is 80 per cent. I am determined to see all children survive in my lifetime."

■ To sign up for one of the walks visit www.bothamwalk.com, call 020 7685 5133 or e-mail bothamwalk@lrf.org.uk

Change to hospital parking procedure

A NEW entry and exit barrier system, with pay-on-foot parking has been introduced at MK Hospital.

It means parking is free for up to 15 minutes in all of the car parks, though charges at £2 for up to four hours and £3.50 for all day.

All the new pay stations take coins, bank notes and a range of bank and credit cards, and give change.

The 'pay-on-foot' system means that a ticket will be issued on entering the car park. Before leaving, the fee will need to be paid at one of the pay machines. This will validate the ticket to allow exit from the car park.

The hospital recently invested £7.5 million in a new four-storey car park, while expanding its disabled facilities over recent years.

Any income from parking charges is used to improve hospital security and maintain the parking facilities available, or is directly invested back into patient care.

Parking charges will continue to be waived for those who attend the cancer patients' ward and for dialysis patients.

Bob Heavisides, director of facilities at Milton Keynes Hospital, said: "Charging for car parking remains standard practice across England.

"Milton Keynes Hospital has well priced car parking facilities compared with other hospitals in the area and the facilities that we offer are amongst the best in the country."

In & around Woburn Sands

Woburn Sands is situated six miles south east of Milton Keynes. Aptly named, it lays on sandy soil right on the border between Buckinghamshire and Bedfordshire. It retains the charm of a place that is half urban, half rural and is definitely worth a visit.

With many independent traders you can expect to find a wide variety of products whether you are shopping for yourself or looking for the perfect gift.

Britain in Bloom presentation Alan Marham, Open University; Rita Vahey, Milton Keynes Council; Janet Lloyd, Mayor of Milton Keynes; David Foster, The Parks Trust and Andy Hudson, Milton Keynes Council

Dig for victory by city's gardeners

MILTON Keynes is blooming marvellous.

It has been awarded the Large City trophy by the Royal Horticultural Society in the annual Thames and Chiltern regional round of the Britain in Bloom competition.

Over a hundred gardeners, landscapers and foresters attended the award ceremony in Campbell Park, hosted by The Parks Trust.

Milton Keynes was named best large city'and awarded a Silver Gilt award by the judges. In addition to the main award, two special awards were made to the city - Best Overall Clean, Tidy and Pristine Entry and Best Commercial Park awarded to the Open University.

Two separate entries from the Milton Keynes area, Wolverton & Greenleys and Olney, won Silver Gilt awards from the Urban and Small Town categories respectively. Stony Stratford also picked up a Silver Gilt award for its first-time entry in the Urban category.

The city's entry was made jointly by Milton Keynes Council and The Parks Trust, supported by the Open University. The entry received special praise for the Open University's floral displays, the cleanliness of the city, the permanent landscaping of Campbell Park and the Hanson Centre.

Its Silver Gilt award was given based on a scoring system for everything from floral displays to community involvement, cleanliness, recycling and sustainability. Newport Pagnell's public houses and the community garden in Mead's Close were worthy of special mention by the judges.

David Foster, chief executive of The Parks Trust, said: "Being able to visit, or just see, beautiful parks can help lift the spirits and wellbeing of people who live, work or visit Milton Keynes. It's important for us to show how much we care about our parks and the Britain in Bloom competition is a great way of encouraging everyone to play a part in creating a great and attractive city."

Norman Parker, council landscape services development officer added: "Winning the award is a great measure of the high standards in landscape management that we achieve and maintain every year. Whilst we're celebrating our Silver Gilt award we'd love to achieve gold next year."

■ The Parks Trust and the council are hoping to enter next year and any business or community group wishing to take part should contact Norman Parker on 01908 252968.

It's All About Autumn

Autumn is the time to visualize your Spring garden and plant accordingly. Frosts large selection of Spring flowering bulbs will ensure you have plenty of colour and a beautiful Spring Garden. Look instore today for our fantastic Bulb Offers. Your garden need never lack interest due to the amount of plants available with fantastic, warm Autumn colours. This Autumn at Frosts we have specifically selected a wide variety of stunning plants to add colour and shape to your garden, so you can begin your Autumn and Winter planting in style - Don't pack away your gloves and spade just yet!

Autumn is the perfect time to plant trees - roots establish more quickly in warm, moist soils leading to improved growth in Spring.

One of the most attractive trees for the Autumn and Winter garden is the evergreen Cotoneaster Hybridus Pendulus with its arching branches and masses of brilliant red berries to attract birds into your garden. In spring large bunches of flowers - pink in bud opening to pure white - will attract pollinating insects.
In the Autumn months your garden should include eye-catching plants to add dazzling colour. Bring a last great blaze into your garden by planting some of those that glow like fire. Select from Frosts range of "Autumn Magic" which includes three varieties of Berberis Thunbergii Flash Some Colour. Keep your garden aglow this Autumn and bring a welcome splash of vibrant colour by planting pansies - these will add a fresh look and add an instant colourful display for the coming months.
Look out for our English pansies grown exclusively for Frosts, with 3 for the price of 2 on all 6 packs.

Love Your Lawn

Get your lawn in great shape - Autumn is an important season for taking care of your lawn. The last months of the growing season should be used to strengthen and prepare the lawn for the rigors of winter. The effort you put into your lawn this Autumn will improve the quality and health of your lawn right through into the following Spring and beyond.
An Autumn feed should be considered to give the lawn an added boost over the Winter months.

Wild About Birds

With Winter approaching and natural food diminishing, birds will begin to return to feeding stations. Give your feathered friends a treat whilst at the same time bringing colour and pleasure to your garden. We have a vast selection of wild bird food, nesting boxes, feeders and tables, and don't forget Feed the Bird Weekend on 25th & 26th of October.

SEASONAL CHECKLIST

- Fallen leaves make good compost - start to build a compost heap from garden waste.
- Prune your hedges - if you do it now it will not disturb nesting birds
- Replace any summer bedding that is past its best with Autumn / Winter alternatives such as Pansies and Violas.
- Plant new trees, shrubs, climbers and perennials - the soil will now be at optimum temperature.
- Take Hardwood cuttings from roses
- Begin dividing overgrown perennials and support any that have grown tall and may suffer wind damage.
- Start to plan your frost protection. Ensure tender plants are not exposed when the colder weather arrives.

BACK PAIN?

Painkillers and a sheet of exercises are not your only options

A large trial funded by the Medical Research Council in 1990 concluded that CHIROPRACTIC TREATMENT was 30% more effective than hospital outpatient management, mainly for patients with chronic or severe lower back pain.

A follow up trial in 1995 confirmed patients with lower back pain treated by Chiropractors derived more benefit and long term satisfaction than those treated by hospitals.

MUSIC REVIEWS

THANK YOU FOR A LIFETIME
Cliff Richard

THERE aren't that many pop singers around whose career has actually outlived the copyright on their earliest songs, but then Cliff Richard's been around for so long it wouldn't surprise me if Queen Victoria was one of his early fans.

As far as new songs go, things have been a bit quiet in recent years but I can remember when the festive season meant mistletoe, wine and children apparently singing Christian rhyme – in other words, Cliff had the Christmas Number One sewn up in much the same manner that the X-Factor conveyor belt does today.

If he wasn't challenging for yuletide honours, it was simply because he couldn't be bothered that year. That's when you know you've made it in the music industry. So here he is then, 50 years into a career that will probably only end when the world does (he'll probably perform at the closing ceremony for that and all) and he's decided to celebrate. What better way to start the party than by only letting Woolworths sell your new single? Actually, probably hundreds, but I don't suppose you rack up five decades in the business without knowing what you're doing so I'll give him the benefit of the doubt on that one. Besides, HMV had all the Elvis exclusives so I reckon it's about time another retailer had a look in. Anyway, occasionally I write music reviews… the song itself is Cliff's way of looking back over his career (giving a special shout out to Move It! as well he should) and saying thanks to his massed ranks of fans, who no doubt have been waiting to mobilise in their thousands as soon as the release date was announced.

The tune itself is safe, friendly, unthreatening and a bit dull really, but to be honest that's not the point. The fact that he's in a position to do this song at all given the fickle nature of the music industry is far more important than the quality of the tune… this time. Usually for me, it's all about the song, but this isn't a song for the masses, this is a little personal show of respect between Cliff and his fans so it's hard to knock it on that score. However, this is his latest attempt to get a Number One single in the 2000s and let's be honest here, he's running out of time now if he wants to keep his run going (for the three remaining people who don't know, he's had a Number One single in every decade since the Singles Chart started – except the current one). It'd be nice to see him succeed, I'm just not quite sure that this single's good enough to do it. That said, I've been proven wrong before. The phrase, 'A new Star Wars trilogy? What could possibly go wrong?' springs to mind.

YOU LIE, YOU CHEAT
Spiritualized

AND then, on the other hand there's Spiritualized and they are not saying thank you, no siree.

Proceedings begin with a single guitar strumming away quite happily, at least it is until it gets pummelled into the ground by a howl of feedback, swiftly followed by an entire band jumping all over it. From the sound of it, it's highly unlikely that any of the musical instruments employed in the making of this song actually survived the recording session, which probably explains the fade-out and on top of that, the keyboard player sounds as though he's playing the thing blindfolded, because I don't think he hits the right note once. The whole experience roars along for three wonderful, chaotic, frenzied minutes and it's the best thing Spiritualized have done in years.

Mind you, with a title like that you can see why Cliff didn't use this song for his anniversary single.

FILM REVIEW: ROCK N ROLLA

WELL stone me, if I ain't a well famous mockney director and I've 'ad a few right flops darn the old box office lately and I thunk to meself 'mate, it don't go darn too well wot when you try and make any of that arty stuff'.

As truth would 'ave it, everyone says to me them films is a right load of old pony. Especially, like, when you try and put your weightlifting pop tart Mrs in the flicks and then it's just even more bad than the bleeding Love Guru – and blimey that's proper bad innit?

So, like I was saying, I thought, look Guy mate, the one wot they liked was that Lock Stock and all that, wiv all geezers and guns and that big footballer and shaartin' shootin' and sexy birds and all that.

Now some people says to me, they says: 'Guy, naah mate you can't retread all that old ground all over again and them films is well out of fashion now anyway ain't they?'.

But I say: 'naah mate, I'm making one of them films again so geezers think I'm well proper again and talk about me when they go darn to watch the Chelsea and 'ave a few pints and a kebab, and even if this film is a total waste of everyone's bleedin' time and space and should be chucked right in the jolly old Thames along with my mockney ways and my whole film career I don't bleedin care cos I'm rich'.

The season of mellow fruitfulness

SEPTEMBER and the beginning of Autumn is alive with colour and the bounty of nature.

Orchard fruits, of apple, pears and plums, are ripening, the hedgerows are bursting with sloes, blackberries and elderberries and mushrooms are sprouting up in weird and wonderful shapes.

As nature has a final flurry of activity before settling down for the the winter, it's time to enjoy not only its colourful leaves and flowers but to harvest its fruit as well.

Elderberries are available from late summer and are popular for making jam and wine, while their flowers can be used in spring for making cordial.

Blackberries make great jam or pies and sloes provide a traditional and refreshing tipple.

Hedgerows and orchards don't only provide us with a potential source of food they allow birds, insects and mammals to stock up before the winter.

Many traditional orchards have long-lived fruit trees with hollows that provide excellent shelter for a wide range of wildlife.

If you do go foraging take great care to make sure that what you select is safe to eat and leave enough for others and wildlife to enjoy it too.

While most people can identify one or two edible plants such as blackberries or sloes other plants, berries, leaves and fungi can prove far more difficult and potentially unhealthy if identified incorrectly.

Always make sure you know exactly what it is that you are picking.

If you have any doubt, don't pick it or eat it. Guide books to identify plants may be helpful or, even better, join one of The Parks Trust's organised events and discover what to harvest from local experts.

As part of a 'Season of Mellow Fruitfulness' events, rangers will lead groups to discover more about wild food that you can forage for.

They'll point out the variety of berries and plants you can plunder from your hedgerows, where you can get apples for free in the Trust's community orchard and how to identify good and bad mushrooms on a Fungi Foray.

HEDGEROW HARVEST

Saturday, September 13
Stonepit Field, 10.30am-1.30pm.
TAKE a guided walk along some of the cities hedgerows and discover the food that they supply to both wildlife and us.

SCRUMPTIOUS APPLE DAY

Saturday, October 4
Woughton Orchard, 10am-12pm.
THIS hidden gem provides a variety of old English apples that are absolutely free for anyone to harvest. Collect your apples to make chutney, pies or enjoy some simple appley fun.

FUNGI FORAY

Saturday, October 18
Linford Wood, 10am-12pm.
JOIN a guided walk by the Buckinghamshire Fungus Group to identify fungi

■ All 'Season of Mellow Fruitfulness' events are designed for adults and children.

Events cost £2.50 per person and must be booked in advance.

TASTELIFE

AFTERNOON TEA

Frosts Garden Centre, Woburn Sands
Review by Jessica Cunniffe

'TEA' means different things to different people.

To some it is their evening meal, to others it is a quick brew, while in some circles it is a late afternoon snack.

At Frosts Garden Centre in Woburn Sands, tea is more of a genteel affair, like something out of a novel, with an array of sandwiches, tea or coffee of your choice, scones, cake and even champagne.

The presentation of the food continues the fictional feel, with food that looks like film props brought to you – cake on a tiered stand, dainty sandwiches on Portmeirion Crockery, and a mammoth teapot with unlimited refills of tea.

All of this takes place in the picturesque garden room restaurant on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays between 2pm and 4pm.

And at £9.95 per person, or £14.95 if you want champagne, it is cheaper than the Ritz and Claridges, and you get more for your money.

The choice of teas – English breakfast, Assam, Darjeeling, Earl Grey and a selection of fruit flavour - was impressive, but it was the Twinings Everyday Tea recommended to us that was the best.

The sandwiches – salmon, cheese, ham and pickle, and egg – were as perfectly presented as they were plentiful.

The flute of champagne that accompanied this course made it feel even more sophisticated, and we totally forgot that we were actually in a garden centre in Milton Keynes.

This was then soon followed by scones with cream and jam, American shortcake, strawberries dipped in chocolate and pieces of cheese cake.

This is how 'tea' should be. With or without champagne it feels like an event and, even though we were not celebrating anything, it felt like we were.

And the fact that even my non-tea drinking friend enjoyed Frosts Afternoon Tea proves that there is something for everyone there.

Book by calling Frosts beforehand on 01908 583511 to avoid disappointment.

MK BUSINESS

A touch of class? – put your shirt on it!

Over a century of innovation – and still on the button

ONE hundred years of top quality fabrics and British design is set to make its mark on Milton Keynes with the opening of shirtmakers T M Lewin in Midsummer Place in the city centre.

The company has opened the new store as part of its national expansion plans.

Marketing director Robert Isaac is delighted they've been able to add Milton Keynes to their long list of outlets: "There's a thriving business community here and we already have many customers from the city's professionals - solicitors, accountants and those working in the banking and insurance fields - who have been doing business with us for years, either visiting us in London or buying online.

"They appreciate the tremendous quality of our products and know they are available at prices which compete with high street brands.

"We are thrilled to be able to bring our quality and experience to Milton Keynes as one of the key centres in the region."

T M Lewin was founded in 1898 when Thomas Mayes Lewin opened his first shop, a gentleman's shirtmakers, in Jermyn Street, St James's, London. He acquired a reputation for quality and design, becoming recognised by local, national and international customers.

Over the last 100 years the company has been at the forefront of innovative design in hand-finished, limited edition shirts and became one of the first to make the 'coat-shirt' - the groundbreaking idea of one with buttons down the front.

Hundreds of fabric designs were evolved over that time to meet customer demands including brightly coloured checked, striped and patterned models.

This activity continues to the present day. Each month the in-house design team produces around 100 ideas for the shirt buyers to choose from. The result is a never-ending supply of short-run designs for the stores, so customers can be sure of an excellent choice of limited editions. Last year the company sold 1.8 million shirts.

Lawyers' charity cash found right under their noses

MORE than £3,000 has been raised by Milton Keynes based commercial law firm emw law for the Neonatal Unit at Milton Keynes Hospital.

Staff from emw law went on a tour of the unit yesterday to find out more about the special care given to babies.

The money was raised through Christmas card donations, and holding a sponsored moustache growing competition.

One in ten babies requires specialist care when they are born.

Glenda Deacon, Neonatal Unit Manager at Milton Keynes Hospital, said: "We are very grateful for the generous donation from emw law.

"The demand for our specialist services is growing. Due to an increase in the birth rate and advances in neonatal care, we need more cots to ensure we can treat more babies and save even more precious lives.

"The hospital plans to undertake a full refurbishment to enable us to increase capacity to 22 cots, and allow equipment to be upgraded."

The trust cares for over 350 premature, small or ill babies a year with some born as early as 24 weeks old (16 weeks early) and weighing as little as 500 grams.

Vital equipment and an appropriate environment are needed to provide the most sophisticated care to these special patients. The Little Lives Appeal aims to raise £250,000 for the Neonatal Unit, which will go towards a full refurbishment and redesign of the Unit.

Thanks to the generosity of local companies and people, over £25,000 has now been raised for the Little Lives Appeal.

Online lesson plans sharing could become teachers' pet

NINE out of ten teachers believe the creativity and quality of their lesson planning is being hampered by a lack of time, research suggests.

A survey of more than 4,000 teachers found that almost half (45 per cent) are spending more than a day a week (eight hours) preparing lessons.

Up to three quarters (73 per cent) work in the evenings and weekends and more than 60 per cent say they occasionally plan lessons at the last minute.

The research was commisioned by TSL Education of the Times Educational Supplement to tie in with the launch of TESconnect, an online resource for teachers.

The resource allows teachers to creat profiles and contact others within the same subject specialism to share lesson plans and best practice.

The research found that those who already use online collaboration could save 14.3 million teaching hours a year by 2012.

More than eight in 10 (84 per cent) of teachers said that an online professional network would help them share their ideas.

Edward Griffiths head of TESconnect said: "We talk to teachers a lot here, we know how busy they are, they are also working at weekends, in the evenings, in their own free time. They already try their best to share good working practices on an ad hoc basis, we want to help them do that.

"There are increasing demands on teachers, teaching is a complex and changing world. Teachers have a lot of preparation to do for lessons, they are finding three to four resources for every class they teach.

"There is something to be said about the needs of the curriculum changing, teachers want to prepare the best possible lessons for the children they teach.

"As professionals they want to improve what they are are doing and get the most out of their classes.

"We are on the verge of a revolution in education by giving teachers the tools to do this I genuinely believe teachers will achieve even more remarkable results.

"We now have the technology to help teachers teach not only better individual lessons but to become better, happier teachers, which ultimately has an important impact on the quality of our children's education."

BECOME A MULTI-SKILLED ENERGY ASSESSOR

By law trained Energy Assessors will need to carry out an estimated 3 million Energy Assessments in the year from this October - 200,000 commercial buildings, 1.8 million homes being rented and 1.1 million being sold (2.1m in normal house sale years).

Applicants are therefore required to train now - no previous surveying experience is required - at our London, Bristol, Birmingham and Manchester training centres which are approved by the Government-appointed Awarding Body for the Built Environment. The subsidised training is taken in separately bookable 1-week modules usually around current commitments and you qualify as a multi-skilled Domestic and Commercial Energy Assessor, Flood Risk Assessor and Home Inspector.

Homes now being sold already require Assessments with average fees of £70 being paid to our Assessors – fees for the 1.8m rented homes from October are expected to be similar. Fees for currently optional Home Inspections average £250 - commercial Assessments are expected to be higher. Up to 15 domestic Assessments or 6 commercial Assessments or Home Inspections are estimated to be carried out in a week, subject to size of properties and supply. As well as thousands of Assessors carrying out Energy Assessments, 7500 Home Inspectors will be needed upon Government making Home Inspections compulsory - less than a thousand are currently certified.

Regardless of the 'credit crunch' these new 'green' laws and 3 million Assessments are creating a rapidly expanding new industry which you could join, subject to interview and Aptitude test. So apply now for subsidised training and to start a new career carrying out this environmentally important work with potential multiple income stream opportunities.

Save money servicing your car

VW, AUDI, SEAT, SKODA

Our customers come from all over the country because of our good name and personal service where they can speak to the engineer working on their car. Our work is second to none and they still save up to 50% on main dealer prices

Our workshop is not housed behind a flashy reception area where you hand your keys over and your car disappears not to be seen again until you pay your bill.

We run an open workshop where the customer is shown what's wrong with their car and you can discuss the solutions with the engineer.

Our workshop carry's the latest VAG approved equipment including

- VAG approved computer diagnostics
- VAG approved four wheel alignment
- Tyre fitting and computerised balancing
- Air conditioning services
- VAG trained technicians
- Reception with broadband access

We offer a full range of tuning services including engine tuning and track day preparation.

MK Park clinch title – thanks to the weather

LOCAL CRICKET

CHERWELL LEAGUE

Division Two

There were dramatic scenes at Milton Keynes Park's Manor Fields ground on Saturday which saw Park clinch the Oxford Times Cherwell League Division 2 title.

Going into the game just two points behind leaders Dinton, and with the probability of just the league champions being promoted, Park knew they had to better Dinton's result by at least two points.

Park won the toss on a sodden pitch and inserted visitors Abingdon Vale into bat.

The total was on 24 when James Sprittles got the breakthrough, and soon Vale were struggling at 26/3.

Regular wickets fell with Vale losing seven wickets for 27 runs as they were dismissed for 93.

Skipper Graham Simpson took 6-19 and Alston 3-23.

The weather was always likely to play its part and Park wasted no time in hunting down the runs.

The first wicket between James Ward and Simpson saw them add 23 until Simpson was caught behind.

Ghufran Mohammed continued the onslaught as he and Ward added another 29 runs in quick time.

Ward was eventually caught for 28 but there was no let-up as Ed Packard got into his stride.

Despite losing the wickets of Packard and Alex Kilbey, Park got home in the 17th over.

Park waited for news from Dinton's game against Leighton Buzzard and when the news came through that the game had fallen foul of the weather, with no completion possible, the celebrations began.

Park's scheduled Bucks Cup semi-final against Beaconsfield fell foul to the weather on Sunday and, in a coin toss to decide who would play in the final, Park were the unfortunate losers.

Park look forward to their return to playing Cherwell Division 1 cricket next season and would be interested to hear from anyone who is keen to join the club.

Visit their website www.mkweb.co.uk/mkpcc for more details or contact Graham Simpson on 07970 477436 for any more information.

See Lightning's new look side

Gary Clarke

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

THE wait is nearly over for ice hockey fans with the new season just around the corner.

MK Lightning 's English Premier League campaign starts in over two weeks time but for now they have eyes fixed on four challenge matches.

Lightning fans will see their new look side for the first time this weekend.

James Pease, Lewis Christie, Lukas Zatopek alongside Andre Smulter and James Archer are new faces in this seasons side.

They join old favourites like Michael Wales, Matt Towalski, Adam Carr and prolific scorer Gary Clarke.

Nick Poole is set to add another net minder to his team as back up for the ever-reliable Barry Hollyhead.

Player-coach Poole has been busy adding strength to the Lightning line-up over the summer, but has also been given the chance to concentrate on his own game as Great Britain international Pease shares coaching duties.

If last season is anything to go by the Lightning faithful could be in for a treat.

MK won all four meetings and scored 28 in the process and with more power up front it could be a gloomy weekend for Telford.

The largest victory against the Tigers was an astonishing 10-1late in December.

Tigers felt the lashing of numerous sides last year but they will be out to prove their worth on Saturday.

It is a match that may not have taken place a number of months ago as Telford Tigers almost disappeared from existence.

Telford were struggling to keep afloat but have recently secured their future with new sponsorship deals plough money back into the club.

LIGHTNING host Telford at Planet Ice on Saturday, face-off is at 7pm. The return leg is at Telford Ice Rink on Sunday, face-off is at 5.30pm.

Dons given licence to thrill

MK Dons being allowed to play their open, expansive football at home is as rare as an impressive England performance.

But Yeovil bowed down to their hosts giving them licence to thrill stadiummk.

And the Dons seized their opportunity with both hands putting three past their hapless Somerset counterparts.

Two goal hero Peter Leven admitted after the game he was disappointed not to have taken home the match ball.

"I was hoping for a hat-trick today but I didn't have the energy to get up there."

The Scotsman, who signed from Chesterfield in the summer, has now netted three times in six matches.

When Keith Andrews signed for Blackburn there were fears amongst the fans that a gaping hole would appear in midfield.

However, Leven looks the perfect replacement as he bosses the centre of the park and as an added bonus chips in with the goals too.

Not that the Dons have trouble firing from the front line as Sam Baldock celebrated his new two year deal with the club by grabbing his third of the season.

Roberto Di Matteo revealed his plan was to start the scoring early and pile pressure on the Glovers.

Both Mark Wright and Aaron Wilbraham could count themselves unlucky not to have put their names on the score sheet in the opening 20 minutes. Wright, in dazzling form, sent a beautiful curling strike inches over the cross bar while Wilbraham had a header from Wright's delivery pushed out by Glovers keeper Asmir Begovic.

Fortunately Begovic could only parry Wilbraham's nod straight into the path of Leven who tapped in for the first of the afternoon.

Gary Roberts provided Russell Slade's side with one of their better chances when he created something out of nothing with a brilliant 20-yard bending strike which left Willy Gueret in no mans land.

The rattle of the woodwork was a warning for the Dons.

Kieran Murtagh threatened with a low drive that went wide of target two minutes after the break.

And the Dons made them pay for the miss as Baldock broke off challenges down the centre, Terrell Forbes tried clinging on to the striker, and finished with a neat strike into the net.

Week-long memories of Swindon stealing three points ensured the Dons' back line stayed solid though in fairness they were rarely challenged.

The third, and best goal came 12 minutes from time.

Baldock began the move on the right, Wilbraham flicked on into the path of Leven who raced forward with meaning.

Substitute Florain Sturm picked up the ball on the left then crossed back in for Leven to put beyond the reach of Begovic.

"The whole team were outstanding," said boss Di Matteo after his side recorded their biggest victory under his guidance.

He added: "I was looking for a big reaction from the team after last week. We put the opposition under pressure from the start and it worked very well for us.

"Every game has it's own little story, today was important after the defeat of last week and we have two away games coming up.

"I'm very pleased that we got the three points and they're in the bag now."

Bournemouth first hurdle to retaining Trophy

MK Dons will begin their Johnstone's Paint Trophy title defence at home to Bournemouth.

The two sides met in the competition last season in the third round, and it was the Dons that came out on top with a 2-0 victory at Dean Court.

At that point the Dons were leading the way in League Two while Bournemouth were caught in a relegation scrap.

However, life is very different in 2008/09 for both teams.

The Dons are now holding their own in League One, while Bournemouth are working their way through a 15 point deficit at the wrong end of League Two.

Former Northern Ireland international Jimmy Quinn has just taken the hot seat at the Cherries and faces a Dons side desperate to keep the silverware in the cupboard.

The tie is set to take place the week commencing October, 6.

Date and KO time to be confirmed.

SAM Baldock has agreed a new two year deal with the Dons.

The 19-year-old striker has extended his contract until June 2010, and has the option of a further year.

Baldock has made seven starts under Roberto Di Matteo and scored three goals.

Speaking on the new deal, Baldock said: "I'm delighted to have extended my contract with the club, I've been here since I was 14-years-old and hope I can be here for many years to come.

"I've been given a great opportunity by the manager this season, it's important that I build on that and continue to compete for a first team place."

Di Matteo described the strikers as an 'exciting young player with a bright future' and added: "We can't expect him to be the finished article yet but he has done very well with the chance he has been given.

"Sam's got a great attitude, he wants to learn and if he keeps developing he'll be a very important player for this club."

TWO Dons players have been named in the League One team of the week.

Goalscorer Peter Leven makes it into the divisional best eleven for the second time this season, while defender Carl Regan makes his first appearance.

Leven was instrumental in the Dons' win over Yeovil and Regan played his part in ensure the Dons claimed their second clean sheet in the League.

Team of the week in full:

Glenn Morris (Leyton Orient), Carl Regan (MK Dons), Reuben Hazell (Oldham), Paul Robinson (Millwall), Alan Sheehan (Leeds), Clevland Taylor (Carlisle), Paul Terry (Leyton Orient), Peter Leven (MK Dons), Jeff Hughes (Bristol Rovers), Gary Hooper (Scunthorpe), Craig Mackail-Smith (Peterborough).

DONS' academy slipped to a 2-1 defeat at the hands of Crystal Palace on Saturday.

Palace opened the scoring on 25 minutes when Aaron Dalhouse headed into the bottom corner and Nathanial Pinney doubled five minutes after the break from the penalty spot. The Dons held their own and managed a consolation through Martel Powell a minute from time.

TABLE toppers Oldham have dropped just two points this season.

Colchester held them to a 2-2 draw two weeks ago, but Oldham have claimed maximum points from Tranmere, Cheltenham, Leeds and Millwall.

Former West Brom striker Lee Hughes has found the net three times this term, however, they all came against Colchester when the controversial 32-year-old grabbed a hat-trick.

It is Lactics' Chris Taylor who has been in prolific form in front of goal with four to his name to demonstrate why the club rejected an offer for him in the summer.

Oldham's impressive form sees them leading the pack although the Dons are not too far behind.

Dons' newest recruit Miguel Angel Llera was an unused substitute during the win over Yeovil. He will be hoping to break into this side for his debut, while Roberto Di Matteo will decided whether to tinker with the side that played so well to adapt to away day tactics.

Summer signing Ali Gerba is set to return to the squad following two weeks on international duty with Canada, Di Matteo could hand him a role on the day after problems with his work permit were finally sorted out.

Olympics stars on Tour

MILTON Keynes played host to the second stage of the Tour of Britain on Monday.

Fans gathered to watch the cyclists pass through the city en route to the finish line in Newbury.

The crowd was larger than it would have been a year ago, after the Team GB cyclists dominated in the Beijing Olympics last month and made the sport sexy again.

"I don't know about that," said gold medallist Bradley Wiggins at the start line as he prepared for the long race, "it's just nice to come and race in England to be honest. Kind of do a bit of a lap of honour, it's nice to see all the public especially after the success at the Olympics."

Also on show was team pursuit gold winner Geraint Thomas who happily obliged to fans autograph and photo requests.

Once stage one winner Alessandro Petacchi had been present to the crowd and all the riders had signed up the second stage began.

Ian Stannard, Giairo Ermeti and Alejandro Marque made the first break after departing Milton Keynes but were soon dragged back by the peloton.

It was Team CSC's Matthew Goss who claimed the second stage win in Newbury, avoiding a major crash en route, with Julian Dean and Chris Sutton coming in second and third.

The top GB rider was Roger Hammond, in fourth place, while Petacchi retained the yellow jersey with his sixth place.

Thomas is now 28th in the general classification while Wiggins is trailing in 92nd. Pictures page 7

A pass for Yorick – you know he'll do well

ONE of British basketball's most flamboyant players will take to the court in Milton Keynes for another season.

MK Lions have re-captured star performer Yorick Williams.

The 6ft 4ins shooting guard will be in his second season with the Lions.

Last season he was key to the Lions' fourth placed finish, their best in the BBL, and the triumph in the BBL Cup.

Lions owner and coach, Vince Macaulay, said: "Yorick matured really well with us last season, he loved being here and we loved having him here, he is simply the most exciting player in the BBL and one of a handful of players fans actually pay good money to watch."

A Great Britain international, Williams, is a previous BBL Championship and BBL Cup winner.

All bar one of his 13 years in the profession have been spent in the British Basketball League.

"Yorick gelled well with the whole squad" added Macaulay, "I expect him to take an even greater role this term, Yorick is already a legend to British players and leads the youngsters in letting them know how far they can go in their basketball so I am glad to have him here."

Williams joins Dru Spinks, Mike New, Terrell Brown and Robert Youngblood as returning players from last season.

This Friday the Lions are in preseason action against Team USA Select at Bletchley Leisure Centre, tip-off is at 7.30pm.

On Saturday they travel to Leicester to face Team Meresta, then on Sunday travel to Guildford Heat for the first leg of the Cup Winners Cup, tip-off 3pm.

The season officially begins on Friday, September 26 at home to Chester Jets.

Penalty makes points for Webber

LEWIS Hamilton may have been furious to see a 25 second penalty but Mark Webber was delighted.

Webber was promoted to eighth place in the Belgian Grand Prix after Timo Glock was hit with the same penalty that saw Hamilton stripped of victory and demoted from first to third.

Toyota driver Glock was punished by race stewards post-race for ignoring yellow warning flags.

It meant Red Bull Racing's Webber, who crossed the finish line in ninth, claimed the last points position.

Elsewhere the luck was out for David Coulthard as he endured a poor weekend on the Spa Franchorchamps circuit.

Most of the action for Red Bull involved Webber, as he was hit by McLaren's Heikki Kovalainen on lap nine which resulted in the Aussie dropping from sixth to ninth.

Unpredictable weather at Spa caused several teams headaches in the closing stages.

Webber elected to complete the race on dry-weather tyres to stay of Glock going into the final lap.

The German quickly caught Webber but passed him under the yellow flags for Raikkonen's accident. Red Bull Racing protested the move, and Glock and Webber were both called to a stewards meeting after the race where a 25-second penalty was metered out to Glock.

Webber said: "I knew Timo might appear somewhere after he pitted for inters but I thought the fastest way to the flag for me was not to pit. Amazingly it turned out to be incredibly tight between us, and Timo passed me on the run to the Bus Stop where there was a yellow flag period for Kimi Raikkonen's stricken car. Every driver at some stage of his career has been at the receiving end of this, so I'll take this today; it's only one point but it's good to have another one on the board."

Coulthard's poor start to the race saw him fall from his qualified 14th place to 16th.

As the races tick away before Coulthard's retirement he was left to see the chequered flag in 11th position. Yet the Scotsman has little time to dwell on the race, this Sunday Formula One takes to Monza.

Hand it to Leven – he's fit for Oldham

MK Dons have received a massive boost ahead of their clash with League One leaders Oldham Athletic.

Joint top scorer Peter Leven will be fit for the weekend.

The Scotsman was instrumental in the Dons' 3-0 thrashing of Yeovil Town despite suffering soft tissue damage mid-way through the game.

Leven, 24, had his hand accidentally stood on and had to go off the pitch for it to be heavily strapped up.

Not that it had much affect on his game as he came on to score the first of his two goals within minutes of receiving treatment.

Head physio Simon Crampton said: " It's been quite painful for him but there's no long-lasting damage to worry about.

"We've assessed the injury since and it's just soft-tissue damage."

Meanwhile, the club have announced Danny Swailes' surgery on his long-standing Achilles injury was a success.

The defender will now spend a week recuperating before beginning his rehabilitation programme.

Simon added: "Swaz went down to London with head Academy physio Paul Collins last Thursday morning, where the operation was carried out by specialist orthopaedic consultant Mr Panos Thomas.

"I'm pleased to say the surgery has been very successful and Mr Thomas, myself and Club Doctor Dr Martin Cave are all very pleased with the early indications."

The Dons have announced Adam Ross has joined the back room staff as the first team masseur and Academy sports therapist.
